Applied Analytics flow cells and probes use o-rings to create safe seals and prevent any sample leaks. To properly handle hot, corrosive sample fluids, we use chemical-resistant, ultra-durable o-rings that are tested vigorously.

Several materials of construction are available to meet the needs of different applications:

» Viton® fluoroelastomer

» Kalrez®